

GROUP TRAININGS FOR CAREER DEVELOPMENT

At Curious Talent, we help professionals transition into and find employment opportunities within the rapidly growing industries of the green transition.

Curious Talent is partnering with FITech offering group training sessions for students who have completed courses in Wind Power and Renewable Energy, looking to find or transition into job opportunities in these fields.

The goal of the group trainings are to support students with employment and career development.

Group Training

Session 1: Career Exploration and Planning

- Career opportunities and roles in Wind Power and Renewable Energy.
- Identify competencies and skills in demand for the renewable energy sector.
- Understand Wind Power and Renewable Energy as a growing employment market.

Session 2: Self-Assessment and Skills Recognition

- Identify strengths in current skills and experience.
- Clarify career identity and develop your career profile.
- Recognize key competencies for desired role.
- Understand and utilize transferable skills.

Session 3: Job Search Strategies

- Practical job-search strategies.
- Tailor your job search documents.
- Building a network in a new career field.
- Identify and approach potential employers.

Lead Facilitator & Trainer

Ida Husberg-Veikkolainen
Founder & CEO
Curious Talent

Ida Husberg-Veikkolainen has years of experience recruiting in innovative and green transition focused fields. She has an international experience, supporting highly experienced professionals in career related matters, connecting companies and talents globally. She holds a Business Coaching Certification and a Team & Group Coaching Diploma from Business Coaching Institute. Education: Master's Degree in Education & Adult Education, and MBA in International Business Management.

We are looking forward to the training sessions. Stay tuned and stay curious!